WE NOMINATE

Harry Andrews Farr, one of the Princeton Community's truly dedicated public servants, whose quiet, level-headed influence in municipal affairs was sensed once again this week in Borough Hall—a fortnight after he had completed three-plus years as a member of Borough Council. Thoughts of Farr's contributions were conjured up by the presentation of the "MacNamara Survey" of the Borough's 24-man Police Department, a far-reaching study that accentuates the potential of the department while pinpointing its organizational and operational weaknesses.

The 60-year old Farr, a lifelong resident of Princeton and Borough Police Commissioner in 1958, chaired the Public Safety Committee which recommended the preparation of the expert survey—the first such project ever undertaken in Central New Jersey and a venture rooted in the determination to give the Borough "the best possible police organization." Neither Farr, nor any Borough official, was perturbed by any suggestion of corruption or negligence, but all were convinced that a three-man Council Committee needed top-level help in assaying efficiency and forward movement.

Over the years Farr, president of the Farr Hardware Company, a company tracing its origins back to the mid-18th century, has made a habit of serving on public bodies that demand a maximum of devotion and yet yield a minimum of recognition. This past New Year's Day, minutes after he had stepped down from his desk in the Council Chamber, it was characteristic of him to accept a three-year appointment to the Borough's Board of Adjustment, the committee charged with the administration of a comprehensive and complex Zoning Ordinance.

With his "Zoning designation," Farr has come full cycle and has been a member of nearly every public unit concerned with the flow of every-day life in Princeton Borough. A former member of the Planning Board, he was a Housing Authority Commissioner when the 50-unit Hageman Homes were brought into being in 1953. He completed three terms on the Board of Education (1939-1948) and was Board President during the hectic post-World War II period, the years marked by the adoption of the New Jersey Constitution and the splendidly executed racial integration of the Borough's schools.

A 1917 graduate of Princeton High School, and the recipient of an engineering degree from Princeton University with the Class of 1921, Farr during World War II gained widespread recognition as chairman of Princeton's Selective Service Board, a post he held from 1940 into 1946. Active in Trinity Episcopal Church and an early member of the Princeton Historical Society, Farr in recent years has developed an unusual avocation—archaeological "digs" in Latin-America. He is a frequent traveller in Mexico and occasionally a member of expeditions such as the one that carried him and two University classmates into Yucatan in 1956.

For service "far beyond the call of duty" to his community, and to fellow Princetonians; for seldom hesitating to speak his mind when it comes to matters of moment; for understanding all that is connected by the adage, "public office is a public trust;" he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

POLICE EVALUATED

In MacNamara Report. Less than half a year after being commissioned to study the Princeton Police Department, Donal E. J. MacNamara, dean of The New York Institute of Criminology, this week placed his detailed report in the hands of Mayor Male, Borough Council and the police themselves. Included in the comprehensive, 18-page survey are a series of concise findings and equally concise recommendations for the department's problems.

Highlights of the long-awaited report:

● The Borough and Township Police Departments should be consolidated (even before consolidation of other governmental functions), with immediate attention devoted to consolidating records, communications, jail, juvenile and detective functions of the two police units. A combined force would make available 38 police officers for a consolidated area of 18.01 square miles.

● Princeton police promotions should be based on a merit rather than seniority system. In connection with this change, an expert should be employed to prepare a series of written examinations — to be followed by oral and physical exams — for the purpose of choosing a new chief, lieutenant and sergeant. An outsider should be appointed chief if no present member qualifies for the job.

● An officer of the department, selected by the chief, should be assigned full-time to detective duties. His assignment should not be in the nature of a promotion, nor should it carry tenure, and, prior to the naming of the detective, he should be thoroughly trained in modern methods of accident and criminal investigation.

● Each of the department's three patrol cars, manned by one officer apiece, should be used around-the-clock for patrol purposes. Such a system should diminish the relatively high incidence of breaking-and-entering — a crime especially sensitive to control by intensified patrolmen. Regarding the current breaking-and-entering cases, quite prevalent "for this type of community," most of them "have not been closed by arrest and conviction of the perpetrators."

● Since the "principal traffic enforcement effort is directed against overtime parking at meters" and little attention is seemingly paid to such violations as double parking and moving violations, emphasis should be placed on the latter. Dean MacNamara underscored this point with the footnote that, "of 1201 violations written in September 1958, only 22 were for moving violations (with nine of these written by one officer)."

"No Major Crime." In his covering letter to the Mayor and Council, the New York criminologist, who spent considerable hours here last fall, explained that, "while there are presently no major crime, delinquency or traffic problems within the municipality, nor any suggestion of corruption, gross inefficiency, brutality, or negligence within the Police Department, there are a number of organizational, management, personnel and disciplinary problems, as well as areas of operational weakness."

Dean MacNamara stated that the citizens of the Borough are paying approximately $12.50 per capita per annum for police protection, or more per capita than are the residents of most United States and New Jersey cities of similar size. Despite these figures, he reasoned, the taxpayers should be paying even more (a total of $5000 right away to meet pay raises requested by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association a year ago) — and, in turn, the taxpayers should be receiving more for their money.

The noted criminologist touched on every phase of Princeton police activity in his report. He urged a renewed interest in discipline, better supervision of the force's four squads and continuous training procedures. He called for better records, to be maintained by a newly-hired clerk-typist and to include personnel folders. Among other important suggestions, he recommended an immediate change in shift hours (so they no longer end

Do You Know Nature's SIGN OF DANGER?
Your body's first reaction to illness is generally increased body heat — one of nature's ways of fighting enemies that may strike from inside. Ability to know when such a condition exists is essential — particularly in the case of a young child who cannot tell you what's wrong.

A FEVER THERMOMETER
is a household necessity. We have the easy-to-read kind . . . thermometers with a magnified gauge, so that their accuracy just pops right off them for you to tell instantly what they say.

A ship's captain can't steer without a compass. Don't try to run your household without a fever thermometer that will tell you fast when the first sign of danger is there.

as school and movie crowds are dispersing), revitalized use of the radar unit, improved as well as consolidated jail facilities and emphatic police markings on patrol cars end in front of Borough Hall.

Mayor and Council have acknowledged their appreciation of the dean's thorough report, and they have indicated they will take immediate steps to institute a number of his fresh ideas. Yet, there is no clear-cut indication as to how far the governing body intends to go in adopting the survey's many measures, though it is certain that Princeton will long bear the marks of "MacNamara's Brand."

PERSONALITIES

Mrs. Bernard Kilgore, Province Line Road, and Mrs. Justus T. Vollbrecht, 58 Cleveland Lane, who this week were named co-chairmen of the sixth annual Princeton Hospital Fete. Set for Saturday, June 6, under auspices of the hospital's Women's Auxiliary, it will seek to duplicate last year's $10,200 net which has been used to underwrite the cost of vitally-needed facilities and equipment.

Dr. Philip H. Ashby, 3 College Road, who next month will assume new responsibilities at Princeton University when he becomes Assistant Dean of the College. An associate professor in the Department of Religion, Dr. Ashby will replace J. Merrill Knapp, who will return to full-time teaching and research in the University's Department of Music.

ROUND-UP

HERE AND THERE: Recent newspaper stories to the contrary, Princeton's unit of the National Guard will remain in the Armory on River Road . . . that's an official prediction from an officer of the outfit, who believes there may be a switch in battalion assignments, nothing else . . . Sunday's general alarm was for a small blaze in 317 Hodge Hall, a Seminary dormitory, where fire started in a waste basket and slightly damaged contents of the room while the occupants were absent . . . police said the fire "could have been extremely dangerous," given another five minutes or less to get roaring . . . speaking of the Borough gendarmes, the desk sergeant counted close to 100 calls between 7:07 and 7:20 p.m. Sunday, when another wind-prompted power failure blacked out the southwest portion of the Borough, plus homes in three neighboring townships . . . over 60 of the calls came from Borough residents, many of them anxious to have resumption of service before the first shot on "Maverick."

The Trenton Transit bus strike was resolved Monday morning, but the headaches are far from over for Tristam B. Johnson of Princeton, a head of the transportation company . . . perhaps disturbed by the fact that he hasn't got a 49-star flag to date, the gent who does the raising at Morven hoisted Old Glory upside down Sunday morning . . . Ernest Anderson, involved in the fatal December 30 crash on Washington Road, may not be charged with death by auto, since investigators are having trouble proving he was the driver, which he maintains he was not . . . Princeton University has deposited plans with the Borough Zoning Board for an office-computer laboratory building on the University Field property . . . according to present information, the two-story, masonry and steel structure will contain 20,000 to 25,000 square feet of floor space and will require access roads from Nassau and Olden Streets . . . ETS has joined the radio station WOR list of organizations which may use its "School Closing Service" in the event that bad weather prevents any of its buildings from opening for business . . . for the belated record, Richard Hogerty, a student of local government at the Wharton School of Business and a son-in-law of Plainsboro Mayor Hebert Jeffers, was the 1000th Princetonian to "tell it" to Mayor in 1958.

Consolidated Schools?

The Borough and Township Boards of Education, through a joint statement issued by their presidents, Graham Rohrer and William L. Wilson, announced this week they are prepared to finance a study by a recognized educational agency of the possible economies and educational advantages of increased cooperation between the two districts. Estimated cost of the study: $3000.

After a number of joint sessions, both Boards believe it is desirable to obtain authoritative information on the financial savings that may be possible through joint purchasing or other cooperative activities, such as greater interchanges of students. The study also will include development of the facts and issues bearing on possible future consolidation of the two districts.

Messrs. Rohrer and Wilson said this proposal does not indicate that a majority of either Board is in favor of or opposed to consolidation. Rather, "this action is intended as a discharge of what we regard as our public duty to make available an objective and professional study of this question, as well as of the other areas for further cooperation between our two closely-associated school systems."

STOP IN THE NAME OF THE LAW: Cars leaving Princeton Shopping Center during the noon hour Monday were stopped by Township police—including Patrolman Michael Kopliner Jr. (above) — who had just been informed of a hold-up at the Household Finance Company office in the Center. Though only the third such Township robbery in 16 years, it was the second for HFC here in two weeks. For more about the incident, see box on this page. (Town Topics Photo by Richard Steiner)

"TOWN MEETING"

Sunday at 3:00 p.m. Princeton Borough's counterpart of what a New England newspaper once billed as "Orderly Discussion in Town Hall' has been scheduled for this coming Sunday afternoon in Borough Hall, with Urban Renewal and its opponents and proponents holding the center of the stage.

Finding its origins in Tuesday evening's meeting of Mayor and Council, a well-attended gathering highlighted by communications lambasting any additional public housing in the John-Witherspoon Area as well as the proposed relocation of Witherspoon Street businesses, the unprecedented Sunday conclave is expected to focus attention on "acceptable" public-housing sites within the Borough.

As was explained to the press following the three-hour Tuesday meeting by Mayor Male, it will be his intention on Sunday to summarize at the outset "just where" Urban Renewal stands, to avoid recapitulation of all that has been said in the past 13 months and to give such organizations as the John-Witherspoon Citizens' Committee, the Council of Community Services and the Community Relations Group opportunities to express their points of view.

One Council member put it this way: "We have heard so much of a negative nature, particularly in regard to housing sites for those who would be dislocated by Urban Renewal, that the majority of Princetonians must be wondering whether or not Princeton needs a through street or a strengthened central business district. Possibly this Sunday meeting will help crystallize Princeton's thinking!"

Haphazard Letter. From Harry W. Hazard, Executive Director of the Housing Authority, Mayor and Council on Tuesday received the report that Federal Housing authorities feel that the location of 12-14 units of public relocation housing on "scattered sites" in the John-Witherspoon Area is "not economically feasible within applicable cost ceilings."

It was the gist of the Hazard-relayed report that the Borough's failure to come forward with definitive plans for low-rent housing (up to the previously allocated Federal limit of 50 units) would "imperil" Urban Renewal.

However, it was the opinion of other informed observers that there is no "Federal deadline" as to the number of units to be constructed and that the Hazard-defined deadline of February 16 applies only to the Federal agency's curtailment of planning, or administrative expenditures in the Princeton Area.

Tuesday Action. The following items of action were part of the stated January meeting of Mayor and Council:

- Award to Millard F. Anderson, 195 Birch Avenue, of a $20,000 contract for the collection of garbage in 1959.
- Passage on first reading of an ordinance prescribing compulsory rabies innoculation for all Borough-owned dogs between the ages of 6 months and 10 years.
- Passage on first reading of an amendment to the newly-adopted Fire Prevention Code raising the membership of the Bureau of Fire Prevention from three to five members, in addition to the current Fire Department Chief.

MORE POLICE NEEDED?

Township Weighs Idea. Police affairs in the Borough stole the Princeton news spotlight this week, but the status of the Township Police Department also came in for its share of attention. At the first regular meeting of the newly-reorganized Township Committee, held Monday evening, citizens and Committeemen alike discussed the feasibility of a larger Township force.

William H. Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, prompted the discussion when, after lauding his municipality's law enforcement officers for their "fine work" during 1958, he urged an increase in the size of the department, and an increase in funds to support it. Calling the past year "a year marred by various factors of crime" because the force is too small, Mr. Cherry specifically cited the recent, unsolved hold-ups at Princeton Shopping Center and a recent, fatal accident which should be labeled "deliberate murder, not manslaughter."

Mystery Repeats

At least one individual in the Greater Princeton area likes the financial arrangements that can be negotiated at Household Finance Company in the Princeton Shopping Center. He is the young bandit—better still, the loan gunman — who successfully held up the office Monday morning for the second time in less than two weeks.

Having escaped with $329 the afternoon of December 30, the bold, 23-to-26-year-old robber entered HFC's office Monday and, after being recognized by one of his victims of the earlier hold-up, secretary Joyce Anderson, got her to give him $212 from the cash drawer. This time, the stick-up artist made his task easier by waiting until William J. Read, office manager, had gone to lunch.

Miss Anderson, who was just hanging up the phone when the gunman came into the office—without his nickel-plated revolver in evidence the second trip—alerted police officers by phone as soon as he had departed. The law enforcers immediately converged on the Shopping Center from several directions, set up road blocks and searched the Mall's stores, but could discover nothing to aid their quest.

Mrs. Claire R. Levine, North Harrison Street, concurring with Mr. Cherry's statements, urged more police protection at the Shopping Center, noting that the volume of cars and people deserve such coverage and emphasizing that something "more permanent than patrol cars" is needed in the area. The Shopping Center, as the Township's largest taxpayer, has earned "more public-spirited assistance," she said.

Committeeman James G. Campbell Jr., police commissioner, thanked the residents for their interest in the situation, but reminded them that the problem "must be approached with the thought of your dollars in mind." He said he and the police chief, James B. Campbell Jr., have kept close eyes on the department and, presuming the finances can be arranged, have high hopes of adding two more patrolmen during 1959.

Also at Monday's session, the Committeemen:

● Heard a progress report from their colleague, Stanley C. Smoyer, regarding the Joint Library Bill, which, if passed by the State Legislature this winter, will permit the Township to work out details with the Borough and present a plan to the voters—in referendum form—at November's election.

● Considered a letter from Henry J. Frank, 273 Jefferson Road, who again pointed out that the Jefferson-Valley Road intersection is a dangerous one, and talked in person from Mr. Frank, who informed the Township Engineering Department that the new Valley sidewalks near his home are sinking.

● Enjoyed a letter from Professor David A. McCabe, Herrontown Road, once a stout advocate of a hunting ban in the Township, who lauded the Township for its handling of the hunting situation last fall and indicated he believes trouble from hunters can be avoided in the future.

● Received requests to accept Hun Road in the Edgerstoune tract and Heather Lane into the Township road system.

BUSINESS IMPROVING

So Bank Report Shows. Following depressed conditions during the first half of 1958, Princeton business gradually improved during the latter part—"an improvement which, barring any major political crisis, should continue throughout 1959." Such was the considered opinion of John P. Poe, president of the First National Bank of Princeton, in his annual report to the bank's shareholders this week. (For supporting data, see Business in Princeton, page 18).

"Our community continues to grow, and our bank to grow with it," Mr. Poe stated. "There were no large deposit increases from any one source, and our statement reflects steady bread and butter conditions with little or no year-end fluff. A healthy growth, totalling over one half a million dollars is none the less shown."

The FNB president noted that the bond market fluctuated widely during the year. "Our bank was able to benefit from this, taking some profits and shortening its maturities on its investments in U. S. Government Bonds to protect against subsequent declines. Approximately 98 percent of our Government Bond Account now matures over the next 62 months."

In addition to the bank's substantial increases in loans and investments, Mr. Poe mentioned specifically the Trust Department's steady growth, both in volume and number of accounts served, and the West Windsor office's continued expansion. "The facilities of this branch office are available to all our customers, regardless of where their account is carried, and many find it convenient at times to use the branch though their account is at the Main Office."

The president stressed that the bank's new electronic bookkeeping system, using the National Cash Register Company's Postronic Bookkeeping Machines, will soon be in effect, first on the special checking accounts, and a little later on the regular and business accounts. "This provides not merely simplified handling for the bank, but a double check on accuracy of posting for the protection of the customer as well, as the scanning feature of the machine reads the numbers to verify the operator's selection by signatures."

Explaining that each of the new machines cost more than "a fair-sized home did before the war, or roughly as much as a Rolls Royce car today," Mr. Poe added, "you will appreciate that we did not make this move without deep study. We believe the four machines will enable us to give better and neater service, eliminate misposting, and save us time now spent in cross checking."

MILLION FOR SCHOOLS

Tax Rate Going Up. Expected high-finance figures came this week from the Township Board of Education in the form of the municipality's first million-dollar school budget, a $1,240,594 eye-popper for 1959-60. Two new elementary schools are about to be constructed in the Township, so the sizeable increase over last

Any one's feet had reason to be cold last week: only one day (Sunday) produced a thermometer reading above freezing, and that was a scant 34 degrees. The lowest was 15, as the pattern of sub-normal temperatures that 1958 set extended into the new year.

More of the same this weekend, the Man said, after expected precipitation in the form of rain on Thursday. A new cold snap is due for the weekend, with temperatures generally below freezing starting Friday.

AFTER SIX YEARS

"Under Milkwood" Readied. Six years after they first wanted to present Dylan Thomas' "Under Milkwood," the Princeton Community Players will be able to offer it to Princeton area theregoers. It is currently in rehearsal and, beginning January 23, will be given at the Playmill each Friday and Saturday evening for three successive week ends.

A gripping story of a single spring day among the uninhibited folk of a Welsh seacoast town, "Under Milkwood" made its debut in 1953 at the YMHA in New York City, with Thomas himself participating as director and actor. Audience enthusiasm was tremendous, as was the praise of the critics: "A dazzling combination of poetic fireworks and music-hall humor" and "probably the richest and certainly the earthiest theatre experience of the season."

Several months later, Dylan Thomas died. Thus, when the Players enthusiastic about the play themselves, sought permission to produce it, permission was refused by the late author's agents here and in London. A telephone call to Caitlin Thomas in London a year ar so following her husband's death met with equal failure.

Since its release on Broadway last season, however, "Under Milkwood" has become available to the non-professional theatre, and this boisterous and beautiful play at last is undergoing preparation at the Playmill. Directed by John Becker, it has a cast of some 16 Players in its many roles, plus a chorus of 10 Junior Players.

Tickets for the production are available at 17 Chambers Street, by calling WA 1-9678, and at the box office.

DIRECTORS NAMED

Players Add Six. The Community Players' annual meeting Tuesday night at the Playmill was marked by the election of six new members to the board of directors: Miss Nancy Haughton, Mrs. Betty Fussell, Mrs. H. C. Sturhahn, Benjamin Maugham, Fred Sheldon and Irving Van Zandt.

Continuing in office are John F. Becker, Mrs. Blackwell Smith, H. C. Sturhahn, Byron Keene, Braxton Ellerbe, Mrs. Arthur Colley, Mrs. Herbert McAneny and Mrs. Gordon Knox. Mrs. Knox retired as the Players' acting president, with direction of the organization to be handled by the board for the immediate future.

New committee chairmen named are Mrs. F. B. Andrews, properties; J. E. Bachelder, publicity; James Hopkins, make-up; Mrs. Orpha Rake, program; Mrs. Irving Van Zandt, and Braxton Ellerbe, scenery; Mrs. Philip Collins, ushers; H. C. Sturhahn, house manager; and Herbert McAneny, play reading. Chairmen continuing in office include Mrs. Bryon Keene, casting; Bryon Keene and David Lai, lighting; Mrs. John Dunn, costumes.

In addition to the mid-winter production of "Under Milkwood," two other productions are planned this season. A play still to be selected will be staged in April, while a melodrama with music will be offered in May as a sequel to last spring's highly successful "Belle the Typewriter Girl."

THE PLAYHOUSE

Auntie Mame (January 15-20) is none other than Rosalind Russell, repeating delightfully the zany role she played for two years on Broadway. There's no use discussing plot in this case—there just isn't any—but the series of dovetailing vignettes through which Roz cavorts is so amusing and quick-paced that there's no need for plot. The film version of the best-selling novel by Patrick Dennis, who based his wild tale on life with his wacky aunt and her wackier friends, is even funnier than the stage version, thanks to the witty contributions of writers Betty Camden and Adolph Green.

Miss Russell, improving with age, sets a new high in her career as a comedienne, providing enough vitality to keep "Auntie Mame" rolling at breakneck sperd for almost two and e half hours. Fortunately, her supporting cast is "hep," too, with Vera Cherles outstanding as Mame's best friend, Forrest Tucker appropriately pompus as a blustering suitor from the South and Fred Clark letter-perfect as a snobbish bank trustee. Morton DeCotas's noteworthy direction is facilitated hendsomely by Herry Stradling's Technirame-Technicolor camerawork, Orry-Kelly's high fashion costuming and art director Melcalm Bert's significant changes of decor.

The Inn of the Sixth Happiness (January 20-27) refers to an abandoned spot in a remote mountain village of China which Ingrid Bergman—as a British servant girl—transforms into a pleasant stopping place for muleteers. Both the manderin ruler of the village, memorably pleyed by the late Robert Donat, and a tough Chinese Army colonel, impressively characterized by Kurt Jurgens, urge the heroine to give up her dangerous undertaking, but she is resolute. She halts a footbinding practice imposed by the Peiping government, thereby earning tha gratitude of women and girls; she ends a prison riot by going into the middle of it; she induces Donat to give the prisoners work outside the prison, thereby spreading the story of her friendship to bandits in the mountains.

As an adventurous missionary obsessed with the idea of devoting her life to comforting and aiding some of the unhappy people of China, Miss Bergman is outstanding. She is believing and inspiring, especially in the extraordinary scenes showing her leading 100 meagerly clad children across mountain ranges and icy streams — and finally through the Japanese lines. "Sixth Happiness" may seem a mite too long (158 minutes); yet, as produced by Buddy Adler, directed by Mark Robson and performed by the three principals, it proves to be one of the most rewarding motion pictures of the past few seasons.

THE GARDEN

No Sun in Venice (January 15-17), in French and Italian with English titles, concerns Christian Marquand, a newspaperman down on his luck, who meets pretty Francoise Arnoul, falls in love with her and works resourcefully and resolutely to save her from O. E. Hasse, an aging counterfeiter, and Robert Hossein, an evil-minded thief, who want Mademoiselle Arnoul to follow their mode of life. An "adult" motion picture in CinemaScope and Eastman Color, "No Sun in Venice" features a murder and a suspense-laden rooftop chase, but it is a rather sordid melodrama and isn't always as exciting as murder-with-chase devotees might hope.

The Well-Digger's Daughter (January 19 and 20), in French with English titles, is a delightful, unrestrained French comedy-drama based on a book by Marcel ("The Baker's Wife") Pagnol. A story that speaks frankly of human indiscretions and family pride, this oft-praised 1946 film—paying its first visit to Princeton in the current decade after a pair of stops in the late '40s—co-stars Raimu and Fernandel.

The Confessions of Felix Krull (January 21-24), in German with English titles, teams Lisa Pulver and Henry Bookholt, who apparently has a Continental reputation as a teen-age idol, in a rather routine comedy treatment of a loose rendition of Thomas Mann's last novel. Filmed in Germany, France and Portugal, the story revolves around a young German's credo, "I love the world and the world loves me." The young man sets forth to prove his premise, and there follows mistaken identity, love pursuits and the like for this bounder who considers himself an irresistible scoundrel. Perhaps the German teen-agers idolize Bookholt, but it is extremely doubtful if the world loves "Felix Krull."

PANEL DISCUSSION

For Winter Weekends. Now that Christmas is over and a row of winter weekends stretches ahead, why not get out the tools and make the attic into a spare room? This is a housewife speaking. The reply of the house-husband is not always suitable for publication in a family newspaper.

However, for husbands who have been talked into it, The Building Center, Princeton (formerly Conover and Emmons as you know) has several ideas.

The first idea: why not get an estimate? Go out to the Center with your notebook full of dimensions and your head full of plans, and get free advice and a free estimate on how much the whole thing will cost.

The second idea: why not get an expert to give you suggestions Maybe you could get two rooms out of the attic instead of one.

Perhaps there are possibilities in the basement that hadn't occurred to you: a darkroom, for example. A specialist at the Building Center will draw suggested layouts and show you what can and cannot be done with the space you have.

The third idea: why not buy the materials you need on a payment plan? Say, three years or so?

The fourth idea: why not forget the whole do-it-yourself angle and get a contractor or cabinet-maker, recommended by the Center, to do it for you?

One of the best ways to convert storage space into living space is to panel it with wood. The Building Center suggests Philippine mahogany, pre-finished and V-grooved, available in 4 x 8 panels at $24 a panel if you buy 10 or more. There is also cherry, redwood, pine and walnut. If you prefer panels to pre-finished pieces, you may have wood in six, eight or ten-inch widths. And if you do decide to do the paneling yourself, Building Center craftsmen will tell you exactly how to do it.

All in all, it's a splendid winter occupation. Finish up that attic before you have to get the spade and dig up the garden.

It's Bigger. The Fabric Shop has moved on down Chambers Street to a location that has about twice as much space as the former one had. This means that customers no longer have to squeeze themselves into accordion pleats just to get in the door.

In the new shop, there is plenty of room to display prints of gigantic blue and royal purple roses, so full-blown that their white background hardly shows. Or magnified fruits growing on thick green vines against a cream sky. (Both these are drip-dry broadcloth). There are red floral stripes, too, separated by long scrolls.

Plaid denims are brown and orange, red and pink, purple and blue. There is plain brown and a good faded red, and some pleasant gingham check-work, all in sturdy denim.

One of the Fabric Shop's specialties is drapery fabric. Here, for spring, are floral stripes, or just florals or just stripes. Bowls of fruit and toile lamps array a red ground. And if you have themselves in Provincial style on a bunk house to re-do, there is a cowboy print. New Glosheen prints will enhance any room in the house, and some good Indianhead is a fine chaser for the cowboy print.

On Rye. The warm and yeasty smell of a good home bakery comes to meet you at the door of the Castorina bakery on the Blawenburg-Rocky Hill Road. It's a big, light room with commercial-size ovens, scrubbed wooden tables white with flour, spotless cooling racks, sunny windows for geraniums, vines and a pot of herbs. Here, good home bread is baked every day of the week.

Try a loaf of whole wheat, rye, torpedo rolls, round rolls, white bread. Take home some diet bread, which is whole wheat sliced and dehydrated of calories, or anisette biscuit, a zwieback about seven or eight inches long, uneven in size because it has been sliced by hand from a long, tapering loaf.

If you suddenly decide to have pizza for supper, Castorina will take care of you, provided you give them an hour's notice. You name your kind, of course: plain pizza, mushroom, sausage, anchovy, and you choose whatever size you like, too. Delivery to Princeton, Hopewell, Rocky Hill, Kingston. The number to call is WA4-4850. Free.

FINE ARTS QUARTET

In McCarter Concert. It was a young man's concert Monday night in McCarter Theater. The Fine Arts Quartet had, as assisting artist, the young pianist William Masselos, a resident of Princeton for many years.

The featured quartet on the program was the Quartet Number Three of Andrew Imbrie, a young composer who was graduated from Princeton in 1942. And the two remaining works, from the classic and romantic repertoires, were written by composers while in their thirties: Mozart and the young Brahms.

In his third Quartet, Mr. Imbrie combines an allegretto, a scherzo and an adagio into one unbroken movement. It is a work of vigor and motion that does not often pause for a lyric passage.

Mr. Imbrie has written a quartet that demands the attention of the listener: this is no music for shut-eye dreaming. It is also a work that demands the utmost in technique from its performers and the Fine Arts group seemed equal to its requirements.

The cello has some fine parts in this quartet, sometimes with both violins and the viola ranged against it, sometimes with the viola to keep it company. Perhaps the most dazzling section of Mr. Imbrie's quartet comes toward the end with a trip-hammer succession of pizzicati that keep the instruments only a string's breadth apart.

Mozart's Quartet in C major, K. 465, the "Dissonant," may have sounded as difficult to the 18th century as Mr. Imbrie's Quartet did to some listeners in the 20th. Its dissonances, heard today, only serve to enrich its content. The Fine Arts Quartet gave an agreeable performance, if not a memorable one.

In the final work, the well-loved Brahm Quintet, the Fine Arts group was assisted by William Masselos, pianist. The Allegro was performed with competence, but succeeding movements came to life with considerably more success. The moving Andante was mellow and lovely and the march-like Scherzo brought the evening's concert to one of its high points, a peak which was sustained through the three sections of the finale. It was Brahms played with warmth and affection. Mr. Masselos' playing was not quite so clean-cut as one would have liked, but he was full of spirit.

The Quartet as a whole is an able group, although it tends to lack the delicate balance of some of the great string groups. The cello in particular seems to dominate when perhaps it shouldn't, but in the Imbrie and the final movement of the Brahms, the cello spoke with authority.

Out of the West. California styles don't always take to an eastern climate, but the Pat Premo dresses at Elise Goupil have adapted beautifully. Of course, you'll buy them and then take them right back to a California-style climate, because they are designed for cruise and sun. In regular sizes, 8-20.

The dresses are detailed with fine hand stitching that will excite any connoisseur of superior dressmaking. One pale salmon linen has a bodice lined entirely with matching pima cotton. It's an Empire sheath with jacket that buttons.

Sirloin, Impaled

Nobody has uncovered any particular evidence that the shish-kebob was a favorite 18th century dish, but who's to say it wasn't? And besides, if it tastes good, who's going to be pedantic?

Not the King's Court, certainly. This estimable establishment has now added shish-kebab to its dinner menu, and we suggest you try the 15-inch offering next time you dine "in the court."

This new beef dish is composed of sirloin chunks, green pepper, tomato, mushrooms and onion, all impaled on a 15-inch skewer. There's a full pound of food, all told: half a pound of beef and half a pound of vegetables, all marinated in an herb sauce which contains parsley, thyme, garlic and so on.

With the shish-kebab is a baked potato with sour cream-chive sauce, rolls and coffee for $2.95.

In the far corner of King's Court, opposite the charcoal broiler, there is a Grandma Moses original, a pleasant rural snow scene that you may examine while you spear your mushrooms. The painting is for sale at $1200, so please don't spatter sirloin on it.

A red linen has a high, wide and handsome neckline with a one-inch band of the same fabric. Buttonholes are hand-bound and there are big mother-of-pearl buttons to go through.

Darts emerge, stemlike, from half-moon-shaped pockets. A silky cotton, dark blue, has English daisies. A finely tucked cummerbund sets the tone for other tucked detailing, like the cluster of fan tucks that fills in the V neck and makes a flare out of a short sleeve.

Cotton damask, in a variety of pastels, has three flat bows that make a perfect square right in the middle of the back waist. This dress zips to a high neckline in back.

Red diamonds leap out at you from a white, red-flecked dress. It has a straight-hanging jacket piped in that same red. The dress itself has a scoop neck and short sleeves.

One of our favorite Goupil dresses is a magic one that appears in over a dozen different ways. Basically, it is a princesse sheath with two long darts at each side of its center. From there, it goes everywhere.

Have it with a deep U, back and front; a jewel neckline; a square one. Choose it in cream with all-over violets; in white crepe de chine with violet just here and there; or in purest, lightest silk printed with a shimmer of green and gold strokes. The dresses can be worn alone, or with matching cashmere sweaters if your cash isn't too mere.

For larger sizes (up to 20) but for smaller ones, too (down to 10), Elise Goupil has two handsome shirt dresses. One is steel gray, with blurry flowers on its Swiss silk.

Another has bright blue carnations spread out over its white background. There are deep cuffs on the sleeves, and tagging around the cuffs and down the neckline from the collar and the open throat.

Music In Princeton

IT'S A CAPPELLA

Musical Amateurs Will Meet. William Byrd's Mass for Five Voices and Motets by Victoria will be on the program Sunday when the Society of Musical Amateurs meets at 5:15 p.m. at Miss Fine's.

The words will be sung without orchestra or soloists under the direction of J. Merrill Knapp of the department of music at the University. All who wish to attend are cordially invited. Supper reservations should be made by calling Mrs. MacKenty Bryan, WA 4-0453 between 2 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

GLEE CLUBS TO SING

Miss Fine's, Hill Concert. The glee clubs of Miss Fine's School and Hill School will give a concert Saturday at 8:30 in the auditorium of Miss Fine's. Open to the public without charge, the concert will be directed by Patricia H. Gill for Miss Fine's and Lloyd B. Tuttle for Hill.

Ann T. Ramus and Ruth L. Pessel will be soloists, as well as Lester Freed, a member of the class of 1958 at Hill and currently a freshman at Princeton University. Miss Fine's glee club will present works by Mozart, Bach and Faure, with selections from Randall Thompson, Puccini, and Gilbert and Sullivan to be given by the Hill group. Both glee clubs will sing a medley from "South Pacific."

CHOIR WILL SING

"Theresa Mass" Scheduled. Princeton's High School Choir under the direction of Thomas Hilbish, will sing Haydn's "Theresa Mass" on Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the Princeton High School auditorium. The public is invited.

This is the Princeton performance of a program which the choir will sing later in the month for the Music Educators National Conference in Buffalo. The choir was chosen by the Conference to represent the eastern United States.

Mrs. Mathilde McKinney will be the accompanist. Carl Frederiksen, bass; Arnold Urken, tenor; Julia Bowers, alto and Carroll Butterworth, soprano, will be soloists.

TICKETS ON SALE

For Warfield Concert. Tickets for the William Warfield benefit concert are now on sale at the University Store. The baritone will sing in Princeton at McCarter Theater on Thursday evening, February 26.

The Friendship Club, sponsor of the concert, is now accepting reservations for patron tickets. Those who wish these reservations should write to the Club at 20 Green Street.

year's budget was anticipated—as was a big jump in the tax rate.

Deducting $130,459 in State Aid funds, Township taxpayers will be obliged to produce $1,110,135 locally, or a net increase of $271,452 over 1958-59. The Board has figured that the amount to be raised here will result in a rise of approximately 28 points in the tax rate.

At a discussion of the proposed budget Monday, William L. Wilson, Board president, said his group is convinced that "it is a carefully pared minimum necessary to provide the rapdily expanding school population with the kind of education which the Board believes the community wants for its children." He observed that the community does not want to lower the tax rate by overcrowding Township classrooms, so he recommended "ratables that do not produce children as a by-product," if such can be found for Princeton.

The public will have an opportunity to agree or disagree with Mr. Wilson and his Board colleagues at 8 p.m. January 27, when an open hearing on the budget will be held in the cafeteria of Valley Road School. The school's PTA, originally scheduled to sponsor a matematics curriculum program that evening, has decided to postpone its plans until a date in February.

BUDGET IS ADOPTED

For Township Schools. At a special meeting held last Thursday, Princeton Township's Board of Education adopted a budget of $1,144,951 for the construction of the Johnson and Riverside schools. This is $1,049 under the $1,145,000 authorized.

Contracts have been let and the contractors are ready to start immediately. According to William D. Purcell, assistant superintendent of Township schools, the builders' workshop will be up at the Riverside site within two weeks, and at the Johnson site as soon as the new road is ready.

Plans call for Riverside construction to be about two weeks ahead of Johnson construction until summer, when Johnson will catch up. September 1 is the contract date for completion of classroom wings, heating plants and approaches, and December 31, 1959 is the completion date for all construction. (For an architect's sketch, see page 14.)

Too Close For Comfort

The grave need for pedestrian alertness, particularly among the younger set, was underscored in Princeton this past week when two 7-year-old school children were bowled over by an auto because they failed to look before leaping. Fortunately, in this case, there were no fatal results.

According to Borough Patrolmen James Koplíner, on school traffic duty at the Nassau-Moore intersection at 2:55 last Friday, Susan Landauer of 50 Aiken Avenue and Lester Stevens of 120 Leigh Avenue darted from the west side of Moore into the path of an oncoming car. The driver, James W. Smith Jr., 19, a Westminster Choir College student, had no chance to avoid hitting the pair.

Assisted by Patrolmen Koplíner and several others, Mr. Smith took the 7-year-olds to Princeton Hospital, where Susan was sent home with assorted bruises after emergency treatment and Lester was kept overnight. The latter, who lost a tooth at the scene of the mishap, also suffered a slight concussion, cuts and bruises.

MARCH OF DIMES OPENS

Mothers March Scheduled. The 1959 March of Dimes has opened its campaign here with the naming of Dan D. Coyle, Borough Council president, as chairman. Dr. Lester H. Clee is state chairman with Mrs. William Kleinberg of Princeton serving as county chairman for women's activities.

Funds gained from this year's campaign will aid those with arthritis, birth defects, disorders of the central nervous system, and virus diseases, as well as caring for polio victims. An increased effort will be made to heighten the public awareness of these diseases, and of the greater need for prevention and care.

Tuesday, January 27, is the date set for house-to-house visits (Mothers' March) which will take place from 7 until 8. Among the chairmen participating in the planning of the march are: Mrs. Daniel Lowell of Lawrenceville, and six regional chairmen for the Hopewell-Pennington area, including Mrs. Charles O'Donnell, Mrs. C. H. Bell, Mrs. Pearl Hunt, Mrs. Irene Stanton, Mrs. Schultz and Mrs. Elizabeth Tobisson.

FOR CULTURED PATRONS

"The Cultured Chicken." Confirming a report printed in TOWN TOPICS last week, Steven J. R. Frohlich this week announced that he, Saul Fox and several associates will appear before the Borough Zoning Board for a final "green light" next Thursday, then will start converting the Titus Motors property from a Witherspoon Street auto agency into a specialty restaurant.

Mr. Frohlich explained that what was once Titus' showroom soon will become "The Cultured Chicken," an eatery devoted to barbecued chickens, chicken sandwiches, dessert and coffee. The chickens, fed a top-grade formula by Kerr Chickeries of Frenchtown, will be served to potential crowds of 80 Princetonians. Take-out and delivery services will enhance the restaurant's appeal.

Speaking in behalf of his associates, Mr. Frohlich said he expects the Zoning Board will grant them a permit to construct a small building on the strip of property leading from Witherspoon back to Titus, No. 19. The building, if okayed, will be used to house a series of small, attractive shops en route to "The Cultured Chicken."

FREAK ACCIDENTS

In Township and Borough. Officers of both Princeton municipalities became involved in investigations of unusual accidents in their territories this past week. In both instances, the drivers suffered serious injuries — injuries which luckily were not a lot more serious.

At 3:20 Saturday morning, Sgt. Anthony Nini and Patrolman Orlindo Carnevale of the Township force discovered an auto operated by George W. Horsefield, 20, of 163 Linden Lane, sitting in banged-up condition in the middle of a pond off Stockton Street, just east of the Stony Brook bridge. Mr. Horsefield, now on the "satisfactory" list at Princeton Hospital, sustained a broken pelvis and almost froze to death after managing to crawl no further than the pond's bank.

As the officers reconstructed the mishap, Mr. Horsefield's car went out of control as it neared the bridge, skidded 172 feet, struck the bridge's stone wall, turned over, hit a tree and, some 40 feet beyond, came to a halt right side up in the pond. Mr. Horsefield estimated that almost a half hour elapsed between the time of the accident, which no one heard, and the arrival of the First Aid Unit ambulance.

On January 7, about 3 p.m., Walter Gunnell, 41, of 118 Witherspoon Street, blacked out while driving down Alexander Street and crashed into a utility pole. Sgt. Randolph Applegate and Patrolman Russell Shangle of the Borough force attributed the accident to a medical problem. Mr. Gunnell, who received multiple cuts and bruises, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at the hospital this week.

FOUR ON THE AISLE: These Princetonians, all associated with the Playhouse, saw more movies than the majority of their patrons in 1958. Two of them enjoyed the same comedy more than any other film, one liked a mystery and the fourth chose an exciting melodrama. The quartet (left to right) John L. Brown, usher; Richard W. Knight, manager; Mrs. Minnetta Birch, cashier; and Sam Nini, doorman. For their selections, and those of some customers, see Question of the Week below.

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to show your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

Question of the Week

Question: What motion picture was your favorite in 1958, and who in your opinion turned in the finest performance.

Location: Playhouse and around town.

Richard W. Knight, 248 Fisher Place, Penns Neck, theatre manager: "Witness for the Prosecution" was my No. 1 choice, largely due to the great acting of Charles Laughton. Also, I was lucky enough to see it in New York City, where I was undisturbed for a change. As far as top performance is concerned, I think I would say Paul Newman for his role in "The Long, Hot Summer."

Mrs. Minnetta Birch, 686 Prospect Avenue Extension, cashier: "The Brothers Karamazov" was the best picture of the year, thanks to Yul Brynner in particular and the whole production in general. For best performance, I believe Burl Ives, who's been wonderful lately, earned the title in "Desire Under the Elms," though Sophia Loren, getting better with each film, pushed him for top honors in the same movie.

Sam Nini, 14 Harris Road, doorman: I always enjoy a good comedy, so that's why I guess I liked "Houseboat" better than any other 1958 film. Cary Grant is always great as a comedian, and he was aided terrifically by Sophia Loren in a very funny part. However, my favorite actor of the year was Yul Brynner for his fine work in "The Brothers Karamazov."

John L. Brown, 28 Lytle Street, doorman: "Houseboat" was tops, with bellylaughs all the way. And I think "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" ran it a close second. The best performance of '58? No doubt about it — Elizabeth Taylor, who played her role to the hilt in "Cat." It was her best acting job ever, and it really carried the whole movie.

Mrs. George J. Sella, 73 Broadripple, housewife: "10 North Frederick" is my choice for the best picture. I thought the story was particularly good. Burl Ives in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" was the best performer in my opinion.

Mrs. J. Oliver Gluyas, 73 Magnolia Lane, housewife: I think Spencer Tracy and "The Last Hurrah" were the best in 1958.

Mrs. L. M. Rowles, 55 Spruce Street, secretary to the president of Princeton Theological Seminary: I don't see how any picture could beat "Auntie Meme." I just loved it. Diana Varsi is my choice for the year's best performer. She really made "Peyton Place."

Better Than Ever?

"Movies are better than ever," the Hollywood drumbeaters tell us, adding that they are no longer afraid of the big, wolf (i.e., television). These points may be subject to dispute, but at least they are substantiated by recent films and turnouts at the Princeton Playhouse. In words of Richard W. Knight, Playhouse manager, "Everything's rosy."

The transition weeks from 1958 to 1959 represented "our best holiday period in years," Mr. Knight said. "Tom thumb' did a fabulous kid business, and then 'The Buccaneer' came along to record excellent family crowds. Last week end, 'Gigi' did about as well as any picture in the last two decades."

Continued interest in the cinema is reflected in customers' requests to remain on the Playhouse's program mailing list. In 1952, the theatre revised its list for the first time since it began mailing out programs in 1937, the year the Playhouse was opened. Almost 7,000 of the 15,000 persons on the built-up list asked to be kept on it. Several weeks ago, with the list back up to 9,500, the Playhouse commenced another revision—and already 6,000 moviegoers have asked for continued receipt of the programs.

SCHOOL SKETCH: Princeton Township's two new schools, on the Riverside and Johnson tracts, will look like the sketch above, according to the architects' revised plans. In the rear is the classroom unit. A covered walk connects it with the group of units in the foreground. They are, first, left, covered play space; second, the administrative unit; third, multi-purpose room and far right, kindergarten.

NOT S.R.O. YET

Adult School Still Has Openings. Although registration has been completed for the Princeton Adult School, a few openings remain in language courses for those who are interested. Beginners' and intermediate French, German, Italian, Spanish and Russian are still open for additional registrants.

The Adult School Committee also points out that anyone interested in a particular portion of the lecture series on Architecture and the World Today may attend one or more lectures on an individual basis. Additional information on the school may be obtained from the curriculum chairman, Mrs. Robert V. Dilley.

LIONS WILL DANCE

Proceeds to Welfare Fund. The Princeton Lions Club will hold its fourth annual benefit dance at Miss Fine's School on Saturday, January 31. Proceeds will go to the Lions Welfare Fund and will be used for charitable projects. Tickets are $5 per person and may be obtained from any member of the club or its Ladies Auxiliary.

Two orchestras under the direction of Art Brown will provide continuous music from 9:30 to 2 a.m. The dance has been planned by a committee under the direction of M. George Habeeb. Its members are:

Edwin A. Toussaint, Frederick H. Klink, John Collins and Nicholas Maul, tickets; Nelson Thompson, Norton Jefferson, James B. Campbell, Jr., Joseph Catelli, Richard Pellkan and Arthur Turney, decorations; Edward V. Baldwin, Edward Sussick and Harry P. Pettrozzini, program book; Robert McCarthy, William Assatly and James Semblante, refreshments; Martin Mains and Martin Reef, music and Myron Fisher, publicity.

MORE PAINTINGS ON VIEW

Five Artists Added. Works by El Greco, Salvator Dali, Andre Derain, German Powers and Jasper Jones have been added to the exhibition of "Paintings from Princeton Collections," currently on view at the Little Gallery. The additional paintings are from the private collections of Dr. and Mrs. Christian H. Aall, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Lambert, Dr. and Mrs. J. Robert Oppenheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hochschild and James Holderbaum.

Contributions at the door will go to the scholarship fund of the Princeton High School PTA. In addition to its regular hours, the Gallery will be open Sunday from 2 to 5:30 p.m.

GIRLS WILL STUDY ABROAD

Pair Headed for New Zealand. Two Princeton girls have been selected by the American Field Service to study for six months in New Zealand, beginning in February. Miss Eleanor Hamilton of Princeton High School, daughter of Dean and Mrs. Donald Hamilton, 241 Snowden Lane, and Miss Pauline Mills of Miss Fine's School, daughter of Mrs. Augustus K. Mills, 31 Hodge Road, will live with New Zealand families while continuing their studies.

Candidates for the AFS summer travel program include Miss Eileen Baker, Miss Katherine Otis and Miss Wanda Mills from Miss Fine's School and Miss Charlotte Fremon, Peter Kann, Joseph Peterson and Robert Rugg of Princeton High. Two or three of this group will be chosen to live

ORRERY TO BE SHOWN

Library Hosts History Group. Prof. John Q. Stewart of Princeton University's Department of Astronomy will demonstrate Firestone Library's highly-publicized orrery, or planetary machine, to members of the Historical Society of Princeton at the Library next Tuesday at 8 p.m. The machine, constructed by David Rittenhouse in the 18th century, is a clock-work device which demonstrates movements of the planets.

In addition, Prof. Stewart will discuss the application of laws of nature to human affairs in the work of John Witherspoon, president of the College of New Jersey in the 18th century; President James Madison, who graduated from Princeton in 1771; and David Rittenhouse, inventor of the orrery and first director of the U.S. Mint. Dr. Henry L. Savage, archivist of the library and secretary of the historical society, will explain the exhibition of Witherspoon's private library.

NEPAL TALK LISTED

Mrs. Rose Will Speak. Mrs. Paul W. Rose will give a slide-illustrated talk on "Living in Nepal" to the Junior Faculty Wives of Princeton University Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the Engineering Lounge on Washington Road. Mrs. Rose and her family came to Princeton this fall from Nepal, where her husband directed the U.S. foreign aid program.

Refreshments will feature Indian food prepared by Mrs. Rojam Chanmugen, Mrs. Anand Murthy, Mrs. Jerome Strong and Mrs. Roger Pinkham. Mrs. Rodgers L. Gamblin, dance committee chairman, will report on plans for the annual Junior Faculty Wives' dance to be held February 13.

HAWAII SLIDES SCHEDULED

Garden Club to Meet. Slides of Hawaii will be shown to members of the Lawrenceville Garden Club during the group's regular meeting at 2:30 Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Earl K. Snedeker, Green Avenue, Lawrenceville.

Co-hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. George McBride, Mrs. William Pfitzinger, Mrs. Fred Bentley, Mrs. John Bacon and Mrs. Charles Pope.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET

In South Brunswick Township. Warren G. Parmenter, newly-elected Township committeeman, and Edgar Renk, Township tax assessor, will speak at a meeting of the Regular Republican Club of South Brunswick Township at 8 on Friday in the Monmouth Junction Firehouse. Nomination and election of club officers will be supervised by Charles Kubiack, president.

Since this will be the club's first meeting of 1959, annual reports will be given by all committees. Township residents interested in joining the club are invited to attend.

HEART FUND DRIVE SET

For Rocky Hill. Miss Grace A. Gurisic, mayor of Rocky Hill, is chairman of the annual Heart Fund drive in her community for the fourth consecutive year. The campaign will begin February 1 and continue through the month. Samuel Kline of Somerville and Angelo A. Perantoni of Raritan are co-chairmen of the Somerset County organization.

Miss Gurisic, a former member of the Rocky Hill borough council, took office January 1 as the first woman mayor in Somerset County. While maintaining a full-time job as registrar at the Helene Fuld School of Nursing at McKinley Hospital in Trenton, she is working for a degree in business administration at Rider College, as well as teaching Sunday school and singing in the choir at the Rocky Hill Reformed Church. She is also vice-president of the Young Democrats of New Jersey and secretary of the Young Democrats of Somerset County.

BUDGET PROGRAM SLATED

At Lawrenceville Elementary. The Lawrenceville Elementary School PTA will hear a program on the Lawrence Township school budget this Thursday at 8 in the school's all-purpose room. Carl Lindgren, chairman of the school education and legislation committee, is in charge of the committee which has been working on the program for the past month.

Committee members include: Carl Brecht, Gary Boetsma, Samuel Hack, Herbert Kale, Alan Kranz, Edward Lind, Daniel Longhi, David Penrose, Hugh Samson, Robert Schantz, Bruno Schmidt, Thomas Tilton, Roger Twed and Lawrence Hlavacek. The business meeting will be conducted by David Wicks, PTA president. The third-grade mothers, headed by Miss Helen Titus, Mrs. Howard Lyon, Mrs. Eldon Loats and Miss Patricia Toft, will be in charge of refreshments.

LAWRENCE TAX REPORT

New Assessments Due Shortly. In a statement issued this week to Lawrence Township taxpayers, Peter J. Russo, assessor, said that there appears to be a mistaken impression that the initial Cleminshaw figures are being retained as the 1959 assessment.

"Actually," said Mr. Russo, "These figures were simply one step along the way in the very complex process of equalizing the township's assessments. The review with property owners was another step, which supplied much essential information leading to substantial changes in the original figures."

Mr. Russo said that land values in particular were revised sharply and that building figures were also adjusted wherever necessary. He pointed out that the revaluation program is required by law and that it should result in a more equitable distribution of the tax burden throughout the township.

"It should be clearly understood that the Cleminshaw people do not make the township assessments," said Mr. Russo, "That is done by the assessor and I will be fully responsible for the final figures. These will be based upon a careful check of every revaluation card and this job is now well under way."

Every township property owner will receive advance notice of his new assessment and will have an opportunity to discuss it with Mr. Russo by special appointment. The assessor expressed the opinion that most property owners will find their taxes about the same.

FUND MEETING SET

For February 4. The United Community Fund of Princeton will hold its annual meeting Wednesday, February 4, at the YM-YWCA. The dinner will begin at 7, with the meeting set for 8. Dinner reservations, priced at $2, must be made by January 28, and are available by writing Box 201, Princeton.

All individuals and organizations who contributed or made pledges to the Fund during the last two years are invited to attend. This will be the 21st annual dinner and meeting.

SMITH PLANS AUCTION

For Scholarships. The Princeton Smith Club will hold its tenth annual auction Saturday, January 24, to raise funds for scholarships. Lester Slatoff will again wield the gavel at the auction which will run from 10 until 4 in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School.

Included in the event will be a served lunch and the sale of homemade cakes, pies and cookies. A great variety of items have been donated by townspeople and merchants, and contributions will be accepted up to the day of the auction. They are tax deductible.

Mrs. John Davies is general chairman of the auction with Miss Betsy Moriarty assisting as head of the telephone committee. Other committee members are: Mrs. James Hill, pickup; Mrs. George Stevens, solicitations; Mrs. Gordon Knox, posters; Mrs. C. Barnwell Straut, supervision of the auctioneer's helpers; Mrs. John Stover, food; and Mrs. Bernard Goldstein, bake table.

TAKE FOUR ZEALOUS ALUMNAE: Get them all stirred up about raising funds and see how the dough rolls in. These Wellesley Alumnae are planning for the Princeton appearances of James Beard, gourmet, gourmand, author and food consultant who will give a series of three cooking demonstrations at Miss Fine's School on January 21, 28 and February 4, for the benefit of the Wellesley Club's scholarship fund. Left to right: Mrs. Walter Gibson, Mrs. Harry Heher, Jr. of Trenton, Mrs. Erling Dorf and Mrs. Henry Broad.

PTA'S GET TOGETHER

Joint Meeting Planned. Parent-Teacher Associations from Quarry Street, Nassau Street and Princeton High School will gather Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium for a program designed to show parents how the Board of Education operates.

The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint parents with the School Board and its aims prior to the school elections on February 10. After the program, there will be discussion and an opportunity to meet Board members and ask questions.

WILL SHOW FILM

Documentary on Integration. "All the Way Home," a film on the problems involved in making integrated neighborhoods harmonious, will be shown Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the assembly room of the First Presbyterian Church. The program is sponsored by the Princeton Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom; Princeton Chapter, B'nai Brith Women; the Princeton Community Relations Group and the Social Order Committee of Princeton Friends Meeting.

The program is the first in a series scheduled by the Women's purpose of exploring ways in which citizens can help to imple-

Obituaries

The Rev. George R. Bishop, 86, of 274 Nassau Street, died January 8 at his home. A retired minister in the Pennsylvania Diocese of the Episcopal Church, he was rector of the church of the Redeemer in Springfield, Penna., from 1926 until 1941. Prior to that time, he was rector of St. Luke's Church in Altoona, Penna., which he served from 1908 until accepting the call to Springfield.

His wife, Mrs. Charlotte Bishop, survives, as well as a son, G., Reginald Bishop Jr., and two grandchildren. The service was held at Trinity Episcopal Church with the Rev. Dr. John V. Butler, rector, officiating. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery, New York. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Anna Adams Jeffers, 83, of Princeton Road, Plainsboro, died January 9 in Princeton Hospital following a long illness. Born in Kingsley, Penna., she was the widow of Henry W. Jeffers Sr., founder and former president of the Walker-Gordon Laboratory Co.

She graduated from the Mansfield Normal College in Pennsylvania, and taught at the Soldiers Orphans' Home in Harford, Penna. A former member of the Harford Congregational Church, she joined the Plainsboro Presbyterian Church in 1608.

Her survivors include a son, Henry W. Jeffers Jr. of Plainsboro; two daughters, Mrs. Emily Ruedemann of Plainsboro and Mrs. Louise J. Hagenbuch of Princeton; ten grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. The service was held in Cranbury with the Rev. Robert Blackwell, pastor of the Plainsboro Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Alan Hagenbuch, a grandson, officiating. Interment was in Harford Cemetery.

Michael F. McKay, 75, of 62 Patton Avenue, died January 7 from a heart attack while attending the burial of Mrs. Rose Whitlow in St. Paul's Cemetery. A former Princeton fire chief, he had been a member of Princeton Engine Co. No. 1 for 50 years. He was also a member of the Princeton Council, Knights of Columbus; the Holy Name Society of St. Paul's Church, the Princeton First Aid Unit, and the Carpenters Local.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Sullivan McKay; four daughters, Mrs. Mary Malpass of Princeton; Mrs. Catherine Sutphin of Hamden, Conn.; Mrs. Ruth Christiansen of Cranbury; and Miss Elizabeth McKay of Omaha, Neb., and nine grandchildren.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home with requiem high mass celebrated at St. Paul's Church. Interment was in the parish cemetery.

David P. Taglioli, 55, of Prospect Avenue, Kingston, died January 12 at his home. A member and former trustee of the Kingston Volunteer Fire Co., he was a salesman for Catelli Inc. He was also a member of the South Brunswick Township Lions Club, the Italian-American Club of Allentown, Penna., and the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club of Princeton. He had lived in Kingston for 25 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen Catelli Taglioli; two daughters, Mrs. Russell Allen of Red Bank and Mrs. Lloyd Taylor of Indianapolis, Ind.; two sisters, Mrs. Lena "D'Nadal and Miss Virginia Taglioli, and three brothers, Hector Taglioli, Henry Taglioli and Bruno Taglioli, all of Allentown, Penna., and five grandchildren.

The service will be held this Thursday at 8:30 a.m. at the Kimble Funeral Home with requiem high mass to be celebrated at 9:30 at St. Paul's Church. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

Sering Thompson, 86, died January 8 after a long illness at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wilbert J. Shinn of 64 Dorann Avenue. He was the former owner of Thompson Flower Shops and Greenhouses of Princeton.

In addition to his daughter, he is survived by a son, Burson W. Thompson of Vineland, and 11 grandchildren. The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home with the Rev. Arthur Wright, pastor of the First Christian Church of Binghamton, N.Y., officiating.

Sam S. Waymer, 48, 661 Lake Drive, died January 13 in Princeton Hospital following a short illness. He was national director of the welfare service of the Boy Scouts of America.

A native of St. Louis, Mr. Waymer was a former Eagle Scout and had been active on behalf of the Boy Scouts for the past 25 years. He attended Washington University, St. Louis, and held a B.A. from New York University. In Princeton, he was an elder in the Second Presbyterian Church.

His survivors include his wife, Mrs. Sylvia Waymer; a son, Samuel G.; a daughter, Miss Sandra Waymer; and two sisters. A memorial service will be held this Thursday at 8 at the Second Church, with the pastor, the Rev. David L. Crawford, officiating. It is requested that in place of flowers, contributions be sent to the Sloan-Kettering Memorial Hospital, New York.

MAGISTRATE'S WARNING

Don't Pass "Stop" Signs. Tenday revocation of licenses await drivers convicted of passing "stop" signs in his municipality, Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber warned this week. He has based his decision, he said, on the number of accidents caused at intersections by drivers proceeding improperly.

Three Princetonians were among those fined in this week's court session:

Mrs. Badha A. Murthy, 26, 214-B Hinsey Street, $15 for careless driving while on a learner's permit, plus an order not to take her driver's test for 60 days; William F. Wright Jr., 25, 220 Mercer Street, careless driving, $30; and K. E. Adler, 22, Roadside Road, careless driving, $30.

Wall-Graded Rumor

American Cyanamid Company, with 637 acres of land at its disposal in neighboring West Windsor Township, very likely will devote a sizeable portion of the property to a $7,000,000 agricultural research center. Such was the gist of the hottest rumor in Princeton this week—a rumor supported by plans in the drawing stage on desks of a leading New York architectural firm.

When American Cyanamid purchased the West Windsor acreage more than two years ago, ostensibly to conduct small-scale farm experiments in close conjunction with its Penns Neck plant, it hinted it might eventually get around to the research center. Now, apparently, it will get around to the center—to he the company's chief experimental facility—in the near future, maybe even this spring.

The big chemical firm probably will construct its center on land directly across Quaker Bridge Road from the Industrial and Scientific Products Division of Curtis-Wright Corporation. Details are expected soon from American Cyanamid's principal offices in New Yo.k City.

CONTRACT FOR ASCOP

Worth Half a Million. Applied Science Corporation of Princeton (ASCOP) has been awarded a contract of more than $500,000 for supplying three telemetering ground-station systems for the Eglin Gulf Test Range at Eglin Air Force Base, Florida. The ASCOP equipment will be used at three separate range sites for receiving, reducing and recording telemetered flilgit-test data.

"This is one of the largest systems contracts ever awarded to ASCOP and emphasizes the company's systems capabilities," a company spokesman said this week. He explained that ASCOP will supply the data reduction equipment as a subcontractor to ITT Laboratories, Nutley, N. J., prime contractors on the Eglin Gulf Test Range project.

The overall project calls for a 300-mile electronic "scoreboard" for testing the capabilities of missiles and aircraft, including one of America's most devastating anti-aircraft weapons, the BOMARC interceptor missile.

Each of the three ASCOP systems will contain equipment that will simultaneously handle hundreds of bits of information each second from three missiles or aircraft and three drone aircraft. Automatic pen recordings and oscillographic devices will make permanent records of the flight-test information.

TV SYSTEM TO SCAN SUN

RCA Developing Equipment. A special television system permitting astronomers on the ground to aim and focus a balloon-borne telescope 15 miles up is being developed by RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center. The system will be used in a Princeton University experiment sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the Office of Naval Research. The University team working on high-altitude solar observation is under the direction of Dr. Martin Schwarzschild of the astronomy department.

Dr. V. K. Zworykin, honorary vice-president of RCA, is supervising the research which is under the direction of Leslie E. Flory. Other members of the group are Winthrop S. Pike, Jeremiah M. Morgan and Lawrence A. Boyer.

The equipment includes a specially-designed, slow-scanning airborne camera and transmitter, as well as a ground monitoring system, and is designed to pick up and transmit to the ground one picture per second up to a range of 150 miles. The number of pictures per second for broadcast television is 30. Experiments scheduled for next summer from a base in Minnesota will involve a 12-inch reflecting telescope, known as the "Stratoscope," which will be carried to altitudes of 80,000 feet for observation of the sun's surface.

UP FROM DOWN UNDER

Annex Opens New Facility. In a move to gain a more noticeable foothold on Nassau Street, and also to improve its subterranean facilities beneath street level, the Anne Grill has opened a new taproom at 128 Nassau. The new area will be devoted exclusively to the serving of drinks, plus the sale of package goods to accommodate patrons who wish to take liquor, beer or wine home with them.

The blue-and-brown taproom, which started dispensing alcoholic beverages earlier this week, was planned by John Cionaantonio, who, with Michael Carnevale, is co-proprietor of the popular Princeton restaurant. Moving from front to rear, it has an appropriate Colonial entrance, a seafood display in the front window, indirect lighting, acoustical tile, cocktail tables and chairs, display cases for liquor and a handsome, new bar.

According to Messrs. Cianantonio and Carnevale, the limited service in their upstairs quarters will offer customers easier access to the Annex bar and, at the same time, will make for a quieter, more relaxed atmosphere for persons dining downstairs. Already, more space for dining parties has been created dowastairs. The proprietors have high hopes of developing a comfortable cocktail lounge downstairs next summer.

Felix Leiggi will continue to tend bar for the Annex, working upstairs and downstairs on a rotation basis with the owners. Those who contributed to construction of the new taproom include William Dumble, contractor; Peter Saonino, plumbing and heating; and Dominic Freda, refrigeration and air conditioning.

GARAGE TO REMODEL

Separate Showrooms Sought. With the blessing of the Borough Zoning Board, Lahlere's Garage has announced plans to remodel its premises ranging from 15 to 27 Spring Street. Purpose of the renovation, according to the garage's owners, will be to provide separate showrooms for its two leading lines of new cars, Renoult and Rambler.

Blueprints for construction, to be started in the immediate future, call for a shift of the garage's body shop from its current, centralized location to the isolated, western end of the premises, now used for an office and parts section. A new Rambler showroom will be built where the body shop now stands, while the main garoge will become a new, imported car clinic. A full Renault line will continue to occupy the present showroom.

With announcenent of its remodeling plans, Lahlere's reported that Herbert R. Kane, former manager of Edwards Jewelers' Princeton store, is now associated with the garage-agency operation. It is expected that his position will be announced when final remodeling plans are novelled.

WESTERN ELECTRIC

To Expand Research Center. The Western Electric Company will begin construction next month of a 12,500-square foot addition to its Engineering Research Center on Carter Road, Glen R. Simmons, director, has announced. The two-story Colonial structure, scheduled for completion in April, will adjoin the present building to the rear.

The existing building is currently fully occupied with more than 50 engineers, laboratory technicians and administrative people, according to Mr. Simmons. He

Straws In The Wind

The ever-changing face of Nassau Street will change two more times during the year ahead, according to reports from spokesmen of three Princeton organizations. If all goes well, Public Service Electric and Gas Company will move from 42 Nassau to the Shopping Center next summer and Langrock Stores Inc. of 40 Nassau will quickly replace Public Service at the next-door address.

Though no leases have been signed to date, a Shopping Center spokesman said this week that the utility firm will be welcomed with open arms. A spokesman for Public Service, meanwhile, confirmed the fact that his corporation has advised its landlord, Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., that it will vacate the downtown premises before September 1.

While the need for less space was given as Public Service's reason for leaving its spacious Nassau location, a spokesman for Langrock's said the men's clothing store wants to move because it needs more space than its present quarters provide. Negotiations between Langrock's and PMI will await Public Service's final negotiations.

SHOW HITS THE ROAD

Princeton Teams Travel. Spectator sports will be at a minimum this weekend, with most Princeton athletic teams playing away from home. Thereafter, action will cease for a fortnight in deference to term-end examinations, with no contests scheduled until Saturday, January 31.

The spotlight Friday and Saturday will be on the Tiger basketball team's bid to stay at the top of the Ivy standings, where it began the week in a first-place tie with defending champion Dartmouth. Cappy Cappon's veteran quintet heads for New York to play Columbia Friday night and moves on to Ithaca for a game with Cornell Saturday night.

Both contests can be heard in Princeton over the University radio station WPRB-FM, 103.5 megacycles. Game-time at Columbia is 8 p.m. and at Ithaca 8:15.

Princeton should have little trouble with its first contest this weekend since the Lions are currently fielding one of their weakest teams on record. Columbia is 0-3 in the league, finished last a year ago and has dropped 10 of 11 to date.

Cornell is potentially much stronger, and had been picked with Princeton to chase the Indians all winter long. However, the Red is playing only .500 ball and last weekend was a one-point upset victim at Cambridge when a 25-foot Harvard set shot hit the basket as the buzzer sounded. The following night, Cornell lost to Dartmouth by 20 at Hanover and is now no better than 1-2 in the league.

Princeton must show it can win away from home, since all three of its non-Ivy defeats have been on foreign courts and the only team it has beaten on its own floor is Rutgers. If the Tigers hang a loss on Cornell, the Ivy race will devolve into a two-team affair between Princeton and Dartmouth, with the Nassau quintet hoping to avoid pitfalls of other years in the form of upsets at the hands of second-division teams.

Princeton's battered hockey forces travel to Hanover for a game with well-regarded Dartmouth. They won there last season, 3-2, but repetition is unlikely off the two teams' records this winter.

In other sports, the swimming team meets Cornell in Dillon Pool Friday at 8; the squash team has a pair of weekend opponents in M.I.T. and Cornell; the fencers are on the road to meet N.Y.U.; and the wrestling team heads for trouble against perennially-strong Lehigh at Bethlehem.

TWO IVY VICTORIES

Yale and Brown Defeated. Running in front of a pair of Ivy opponents in Dillon Gym last weekend, Princeton's basketball team won as expected over unimpressive Yale and Brown quintets. The Tigers raised their shot percentage to a solid .403 in trimming the Elis, 71-55, and Brown, 66-44.

In neither case was the going particularly close, with both visiting quintets missing high-scoring operatives previously available to them. Yale was without all-Ivy Larry Downs, sidelined with a broken hand, and Brown could not come close to replacing the graduated Joe Tebo and Gerry Alaimo. None of the Bruin players could manage double figures as their combined output in the second half was held to 16 points by good Princeton defensive play.

The Tigers were tied by Yale at 14-all before taking a 36-25 half-time lead. The Elis cut the margin to eight points shortly after the intermission, but Princeton kept control and had a 15-point bulge throughout most of the final ten minutes. Jim Brangan connected for 24 on the evening and the Belz twins had 17 apiece.

Carl Belz replaced Brangan for the first time in several games as the high scorer against Brown, partially because strategy called for feeding the Tiger captain through the visitors' porous defense. He caged 11 field goals, almost all of them lay-ups or close-in hook shots.

Brown's early 5-4 lead and a 12-all tie vanished as a result of two scoring droughts the losers' suffered. In the first half, Princeton moved out from the deadlock to a 24-14 margin and in the second, the Tigers dropped in 18 straight points while Brown went scoreless for 11 minutes and 12 seconds.

Brangan, who accounted for 69 points in the Tigers' three Ivy games last week, has a season's average of 21.8 and a shooting average of .492. The latter is strictly eye-popping.

IVY LOSS IN HOCKEY

Brown Wins, 5-2. Repeating its three-goal margin over the Tigers in a previous non-Ivy encounter, Brown's hockey team topped Princeton, 5-2, at Providence last weekend. The losers had battled back to a 2-2 tie late in the second period before three Bruin goals in less than three minutes sent them to their ninth straight defeat.

High-scoring John McBride continued his streak by getting the Tigers' first goal (and his tenth of the season), while Kingston's

Mantle Earns $3.91

Without knowing it, the New York Yankees' hard-hitting, high-salaried center fielder, Mickey Mantle, worked throughout the 1958 baseball season for patients of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. His efforts earned $3.91 for the deserving patients.

Mantle's heretofore unknown contribution came to light this past week when the Ladies Auxiliary of the Somerville Rescue Squad sent its annual donation to the Association of the Institute. Added to the regular donation money was $3.91, compliments of Master Mickey.

The Auxiliary explained that one of its members dropped a penny in a sock for each base touched by Mantle during spring training, the regular season and World Series. He touched 391.

HERM BELZ

Tiger Basketball Player

Princeton's basketball team is currently rolling along at a somewhat better pace (8-3 on the season and 3-0 in the Ivy League) than had been expected of it for the first half of the campaign. One of the reasons is the 100%-plus improvement in scoring ability shown thus far by Herm Belz, red-headed twin of Princeton's captain Carl.

In 22 games last year, Herm generally saw action as the "sixth man—" the first substitute used as the game progressed. In that capacity, he scored 125 points for a 5.2 average.

This season in 11 games, he already has racked up 121 points, thus more than doubling his previous average by accounting for 12.0 points per game. Almost always in double figures, he has often stayed with the high-scoring Carl, whose two inches more in height keep him under the basket at point-blank range.

Herm's speciality is a one-handed push shot from somewhere around the foul circle, although he is also adept at the fall-away jump after a drive and fake down the key-hole. His floor average this season is a solid .382, while his .696 from the foul line is second only to the red-hot Jim Brangan.

Best contribution Belz has made this season is his ability to hit when the pressure mounts. Princeton rallies against both Yale and Brown last weekend were highlighted by clusters of three field goals credited to the affable red-head just when the Tigers needed to take control.

As University Field fans know, Herm is strictly a two-sport star, ranking as one of the top pitchers on the Tiger nine in an era when there have been a number of better than average Princeton hurlers. He holds four consecutive victories over Yale and is the only Princeton pitcher in 40 years to beat the Elis on successive Saturdays two years running.

Princeton's big problem in staying even with Darthmouth until the two teams meet on consecutive weekends late in February will be to avoid upsets at the hands of weaker Ivy quintets — something the Tigers have not been able to do since they last won the title in 1955. If Herm Belz can continue to hit in double figures and get the clutch basket, it will be a major asset in the tough games ahead.

even for one period and only two points down at the half, but the Hornets outscored them 12-7 in the third and 17-11 in the fourth. Boccanfuso hit from everywhere, registering 12 field goals and five free throws for a game-pacing total of 29 (16 in the second half). Four other Little Tigers got into the scoring column, none of them for as many as five markers.

Coach George Povilaitis' PHS junior varsity refused to follow suit for the first time this season, defeating Peddie's juniors, 41-37, in overtime, and Hamilton's jayvees, 50-43. Marty McGuinn and Jack Lackey shared high-point honors against Peddie, with nine apiece, though it was McGuinn and Archie Freeman who supplied the real heroics—with two points each in the overtime session. McGuinn's 20 sparked the subsequent triumph over the Hornets.

This Friday, PHS will play its only home night games of the campaign, the jayvees meeting Ewing's juniors at 7 and the two varsities tangling shortly after 8. Next Tuesday, both Blue and White clubs will travel to Long Branch for afternoon games. (For a late report on this Tuesday's home engagement with Bound Brook, turn to page 22).

HUN AT .500

After Topping Pennington. Shaking off the holiday doldrums in a hurry, Hun School's varsity basketball team turned back a less-than-adequate Pennington Prep five, 52-46. The victory was No. 2 e' the season for Coach George Selleck's cagers, and put them at the .500 mark with some tough competition just ahead.

For the first time in the 1958-59 campaign, big John Scop paced the Red and Black club, contrib-

Pete Cook caged the other. Forty-eight hours earlier, St. Lawrence whipped the Orange and Black, 8-1, thus maintaining its record of never having lost to Princeton on ice. (For results of Tuesday's game with American International College, see page 22.)

PHS DROPS PAIR

To Peddie, Hamilton. Sole reliance on an individual performer can be a dangerous thing in team sports, particularly basketball. The Little Tigers of Princeton High tried it again—and again—this past week end, as a result, they lost lopsided court verdicts to two Mercer County foes. Peddie trimmed them, 69-40, and Hamilton High snapped a four-game string of defeats at their expense, 54-41.

PHS was the victim in both instances, to be sure, but Tony Boccanfuso, the Blue and White's No. 1 point-maker and only threat was done in by the ill-fated reliance system. Peddie's experienced defenders figured out how to stop him—by doubling up on the talented marksman—while the Hornets let him run wild, realizing full well that no one was running with him.

When the Peddie debacle was over, Jim Sweet had 22 points for the visitors, but Boccanfuso could claim only nine. Sophomore Jim Barbour posted 10 for the home team; however, he's still a year away—and, unfortunately, Coach Tony Borzak needs a lot of help right now. For the record, the Hightstown prep five led 15-7 after a sloppy first quarter, 29-18 at the intermission and 52-26 after a really ridiculous third period.

Against none-too-impressive Hamilton, the Little Tigers were

Out to Play Again in Dry Clothes

Playtime out of doors need not be cut short, if there is an automatic clothes dryer in your home. That tedious waiting around for clothes to dry is ended. Even a heavily padded snowsuit will dry quickly in an automatic dryer. Fewer clothes are necessary when they can be washed and dried so quickly. This means a big saving as children outgrow their clothes so soon.

said she company expects to employ as many as 100 persons at the site during the coming year.

Mr. Simmons described the proposed addition as a transitional step to provide working space before the construction of the firm's permanent research center, which is now on the designers' board. Work on the new center will begin later this year.

"We have made rapid strides to date in our preliminary work on mechanisms, materials and computer applications," he said. "At this point, however, our present facilities are no longer adequate and we do not want to delay further developments in these fields pending construction of the new center."

NASSAU SAVINGS GAINS

Growth Over $750,000. Substantial advances in both savings and home financing by the Nassau Savings and Loan Association have been reported by the association's secretary, Walter B. Foster Jr. By the end of 1958, over 1700 persons held savings totalling $2,767,000.

During the past year, the association lent 77 families $976,000 for home purchases and improvements. The total number of families being aided toward home ownership now stands at over 270.

"The trend toward increased savings, which began in 1957, continued through 1958," Mr. Foster stated. "More people have joined the association and our older members have increased their savings activity." He also pointed out that New Jersey's 448 savings and loan associations have shown an overall increase of $266,000,000 (14 percent) for 1958.

APPEAL SCHEDULED

Objective: Cocktail Lounge. After a half-year waiting period, Robert D. McCarthy, president of Pink Elephant of Princeton Inc., has appealed to the Borough Zoning Board in an effort to obtain variances so that he can develop 252 Nassau Street as a cocktail lounge. The appeal will be heard by the board at 8:15 p.m. January 22 in Borough Hall.

Mr. McCarthy, who purchased a coveted retail consumption license last summer, has asked that the zoners waive off-street parking requirements for his organization, or, as an alternative, waive the need for 14 off-street spaces. He noted that denial of his application "would make the building unusable and would be an undue hardship."

EXECUTIVE PROMOTED

Named Vice-President. William E. Speers Jr., 88 Moore Street, was elected executive vice-president of The Tabulating Card Company at a recent meeting of the board of directors. The company is a licensee of International Business Machines Corporation engaged in the manufacture and distribution of tabulating cards for IBM and Remington Rand equipment, and has its main headquarters here in Princeton.

A graduate of South Kent School and Princeton University, where he studied engineering, Mr. Speers joined the staff of The Tabulating Card Company in an administrative capacity in 1957. He was named assistant to the president during the same year and, in 1958, was elected secretary and appointed general manager of all company operations.

uting 16 points to the cause. His efforts were much-needed, for Tommy Petrone, sporting a lustrous 10.7 average going into the game, scored only six, apparently unable to shake off the effects of vacation time as well as his cohorts.

This Thursday, at 3:30, the Johnny Huns will play Croydan Hall in the Seminary gym. Bryn Athyn, an opening game victim, will serve as the winter's first repeat opponent for Hun, in a contest scheduled for next Tuesday afternoon in Pennsylvania.

BOWLING NOTES

Kingston Finish Red-Hot. Frank Stofko's sizzling 234 performance cannd in mighty handy this past week as Kingston (with 64 wins) copped the season's first-half title in the Tri-County Firemen's League at Princeton Recreation Center. Runner-up Belle Mead (62) made a strong closing bid by sweeping its match with Princeton No. 1, but the fast finish merely enabled a second-place slot ahead of Mercer No. 3 (60).

How the rest of the firefighters' loop wound up the opening half of play: Princeton No. 1 (50), KFD (49), Rocky Hill (48), Dutch Neck (46), Hook & Ladder "L" (42), Hook & Ladder "H" (41), Lawerenceville (40), Princeton Junction (38) and Lawrence Road (36). Behind Stofko — well behind him — in the final week's scoring were Gil Ireland, 202, Ted Drake, 200, and Harold Davall, 200.

Rudy Lehnert of the Industrial League tossed almost as well as Stofko, registering a 233, which topped Nick Sculerati's 230, Bob Zandanel's 222, Maurice Gledhill's 216, Larry Golden's 207, Pete Hinkson's 201 and Ed Lemore's 201. In team competition, Maier & Baldwin (66) continued ahead of Nassau Del (59) and Gable Tavern (58).

Returning to action following the holiday layoff, Tiger Garage (64) maintained its Princeton "A" League edge over Hulit's Shoes (60) and Kase Kleaners (58), though the individual keglers proved a mite rusty — Bob Arbuckle's 212 representing high score ahead of Phil Wesp, 203, Jack Coleman, 203, and Kuffy Britton, 202. The "B" loopers weren't any hotter, with George Paris tops at 212, ahead of Bill Dumble's 205 and Buddy Cavenaugh's 200. John O'Neill of FMC No. 1 hit the double Penockle split of 4-6-7-10, for which he will receive a special ABC patch. Teamwise, the National Guard (24) jumped in front of the Annex Grill (22) and Windsor Oil and Maul Electric (20 each).

Marilyn Lowe, bowling in the Princeton Women's league, notched the only distaff standout game, a 207, followed by Betty Harris, 193, Dot Moore, 188-170, Dot Wheeler, 187, Barbara Danser, 178, Pat Walker, 178, Marge Daniels, 178-170, Liz Barclay, 178, Gladys Wheeler, 173, and Elizabeth Brown, 171. The Betty Wright Shop, Cranbury Pharmacy, Nassau Bootery, the Pinpushers and Tiger Bus, each with six wins, grabbed an early deadlock lead in the PWBL.

CHOOSE YOUR WEAPON!

How will you give your family lasting financial protection?

You can plan the disposition of your estate rigidly, ignoring the changes that the future will bring. Once your Will puts this plan in motion it will be as unswerving as a ponderous broadsword. If family needs remain the same—fine. If not . . . ?

Or you can recognize the importance of flexibility. And by means of trusts under your Will you can protect your family from the unforeseen.

Let us tell you more about trusts—and discuss their use in your Will with you and your attorney.

News Of The CHURCHES

SPRING TERM BEGINS

At Jewish Center. The Jewish Center has announced an adult education program for the spring term. It will consist of one lecture series and two seminar courses beginning February 16 and ending March 24. Egon E. Loebner will serve as chairman.

A lecture series on "The Modern State of Israel" will be given Monday evenings by guest lecturers who will draw on their first-hand experiences in Israel. Also on Monday evenings, Rabbi Joseph H. Gelberman will conduct a course on the institutions and practices of Judaism, dealing with the rituals and beliefs of various contemporary movements. On Tuesdays, Dr. John H. Marks, professor of Oriental studies at Princeton will deliver a course on Isaiah.

The lecturers and courses are open to the public. Registration for the full term is $2 per person and blanks for registration maybe obtained from Dr. Loebner at 130 Sycamore Road. The lectures will start at 8:30 p.m. and will be followed by half an hour of informal discussion.

RIBBON IS CUT

At Methodist Church. A ribbon-cutting ceremony marked the official opening of the new educational building at the Princeton Methodist Church last Sunday. Douglas Webb cut the ribbon at the main door, and other children cut ribbons stretched across the doors of individual classrooms.

The Rev. Charles Marker, pastor; Edgar Van Zandt, superintendent of the church school, and Dr. Chester McKinney, chairman of the building committee, officiated at the ceremonies.

Sports In Princeton

In the Women's Industrial League, also in the early stages of the second half of its 1958-59 season, Cifelli Electric (14) took a slim margin over the 5 Jills (12) and the Alley Katz (10). Madeline Donaldson was high thrower with a 191, pursued by Gilde De Vido, 188, Sarah Huneycutt, 177, Betty Kleiber, 178, Barbara Danser, 171, and Joan Dunn, 171.

VICTORY AT LAST

Hockey Teams Wins, 9-2. Although Tuesday night's opposition was visibly below par, Princeton's hockey team enjoyed shattering its nine-game losing streak (see page 19) at the expense of American International College. It was a 9-2 final, largely on the strength of a six-goal outburst in the second period after the first 20 minutes had gone scoreless.

Johnny McBride got the hat trick for the second time this season, with three goals, chipping in with three assists. Tony Pell of the first line added a pair, as did senior Johnny Hill. Cousins Pete and Henry Cook each scored once.

LITTLE TIGERS WIN

Surprise Foes—and Fans. Getting off to a rousing start and playing like a ball club with a purpose throughout the opening quarter, Princeton High's basketball team grabbed the initiative Tuesday afternoon and finally upset Bound Brook, 57-55. The Little Tigers, now 2-5 on the season, led all the way, except for a brief spell in the last period, when the visitors—en route to a 20-point closing session—tied the score at 47-all.

Tony Boccanfuso, per usual, sparked the Blue and White attack, sinking no less than five points in the very first minute of the contest and ending up with a total of 21. But the victory was only possible because of the inspired work of Doug (Motorcycle) Hayes, who passed the ball beautifully and registered a personal high of 11 markers. Jim Barbour also aided the winning cause with 10.

In junior varsity competition, Princeton's jayvees had their happy skein broken by the Brookers, 47-43.

COUNTRY DAY VICTORIOUS

PCD Sextet Triumphs, 9-1. On the wings of a five-goal scoring spree credited to Captain Steve Cook, Princeton Country Day School's hockey team trounced the Lawrenceville juniors, 9-1, last week on the losers' ice.

Cook hit the net four times and was credited with a fifth score when he was the last PCD player to touch the puck before a Lawrenceville player inadvertently batted it past his goalie. Other Blue and White goals were credited to Robbie Carrick, Parky Shearer, Alex Patton and Charlie Stuart.

Country Day leaves Friday on its annual invasion of Connecticut, facing Kent and Taft sextets Friday and Saturday, respectively. Meantime, the PCD basketball team entertains Wardlaw School of Plainfield Friday and goes to Valley Road on Monday after losing its opener to Lawrence Junior High, 38-23.

ST. PAUL'S FIVE SPLITS

Now 1-2 on the Season. St. Paul's School basketball team divided two games last week, falling before St. Mary's of Bordentown, 46-42, for its second loss this year but conquering St. Peter and Paul of Trenton, 50 to 29. The Princeton quintet will face Cathedral of Trenton here this Saturday at 2 o'clock.

In the Bordentown game, St. Mary's had a 28-17 lead at the intermission but a St. Paul rally gave the losers a brief lead as the game neared its end. St. Mary's then dropped in two quick baskets and a freeze was successful. Danny Corvino was high with 20 points.

The shooting of Corvino (24 points) and the steady rebounding of John Thomas were the principal factors in the one-sided victory over St. Peter and Paul. The Princeton quintet showed considerably improved defensive play in recording its first victory of the season.

As you approach the covered portica entry of the "Lawrenceville" you know something is different. As you and your family stand in the spacious foyer, overlooking the large family-room with its impressive sliding glass patio doors, what you see is wonderfully desirable. A few steps up and the tremendous living room, formal dining room and "huge" family size kitchen, with rear access to the patio outside, overwhelms you with its beauty. Now you're convinced that Lawrenceville Manor homes "are desirably different" . . . but that's not all. A few more steps up lead you to the lavish sleeping area, with its twin bath and a half and the pretentious master bedroom with not two, but three, large closets. The "Lawrenceville" is available with either 3 or 4 bedrooms and eight variations of exterior styling.

INCLUDED
at no extra cost
to first section buyers!

- Your choice of fronts, including brick or stone.
- 10' x 12' private concrete patio, off the sliding glass patio doors.
- Automatic electric dishwasher.

3 AND 4 BEDROOM TRI-LEVEL AND COLONIAL HOMES

Ideally situated in exclusive Lawrence Township, Lawrenceville Manor is convenient to shopping centers and houses of worship. The children will love attending one of the several newly-built public and parochial schools, just a short walk away. If you're looking for a modestly priced, quality built, home in a new community of unequalled beauty and charm, we cordially invite you to become a neighbor at lovely Lawrenceville Manor.

READY SOON! A full 2 story, 4 bedroom Colonial styled home. The "Beverly" features a tremendous 22' living room, a dining room over 14' long and a huge 23' recreation room. See it under construction, now!

People With a Sense of Style Are Buying At Wonderful-to-Live-In Princeton Manor

Princeton Manor is a quiet, fashionable nook of our town attracting fine families. And the location is a blessing. Happily close by are schools, shopping, transportation, and community activities.

The rolling land is sealed off in privacy by a lovely brook which encircles the property. All the land is controlled by the Princeton Manor Construction Co. That means you're sure of fine neighbors, architectural distinction, top-quality construction. All homes are custom built and hand crafted on the building site.

Buying at Princeton Manor is a sure capital gains hedge against inflation. Fresh and clean, a new custom built house with the finest materials and the latest wiring and heating equipment is a sound investment in low maintenance through the years.

We will build from your ideas, your architect's plans, or from over 200 designs in our files here at Princeton Manor — or on your land anywhere in Central New Jersey. (Consult our directory of building sites in the Princeton area which you may use as all or part of the down payment.) A few of our extra services are unusually favorable financing and free consultations with an interior decorator.

Come look over the wonderful residential opportunity awaiting you at Princeton Manor.

OLD HOUSE, LARGE LOT
WEST END

We need hardly say more, but of course we will! Not "older" but actually old, this West end Borough house is roomy, attractive and in nice condition. The rooms are large with high ceilings and fireplaces in double living room, library and master bedroom. The dining room and kitchen are spacious, the latter a handsome combination of the old (beautiful handmade pine cabinets) and the new (formica counters, etc.) Upstairs is a three room and bath apartment (rentable or convertible into bedrooms) plus three more rooms and two baths. Guest room and bath are conveniently downstairs. The house is lovely, but the land is spectacular. Well over an acre of space, quiet and gorgeous old trees, it's not only lovely to live on but valuable to own.
